Subject: End of Active Life Reminder — Gekko® rev. A and B

Dear valued customer,

First and foremost, we would like to express our gratitude for your continued trust and partnership with Eddyfi Technologies. Your commitment to excellence in non-destructive testing has been instrumental in shaping our journey. In our dedication to ensuring you stay well-informed; we want to notify you about the immediate discontinuation of our Gekko® rev. A and B instruments as they have reached the end of their active life.

Since its introduction in 2013, Gekko has been a trusted tool that has served the needs of many customers around the world. However, with major components no longer available, we have made this decision affecting Gekko models with a serial number between Gekko-1 and Gekko-280. These products are now considered obsolete. Furthermore, we are unable to support calibrations, service or updates because of the non-compatibility of Gekko hardware with our automatic bench software.

We remain committed to keeping you Beyond Current with the latest NDT solutions. Visit Eddyfi Technologies to see our cutting-edge technology and reach out to your Eddyfi Sales Manager for more information.

Sincerely,

Dominic Giguère
